INTRODUCTION

Il Ponte is the perfect example of the most exquisite renovation. The key point for the property is the top quality of materials and systems. Plunged in a open-wide valley, it boasts view onto the countryside and in the distance the Appennines. The large garden is surrounded by mature tree and a stream flows nearby.

The oldest part of the original building dates back the end of the 18th century and it was formerly used as a water-mill.

The building has just been renovated maintaining its original characteristics and using high-quality finishes and state-of-the-art systems.

The interiors feature a handmade terracotta flooring, vaulted or beam ceilings and a few stone walls.

Il Ponte spreads on 3 floors plus a underground floor for technical equipments.

Most of the ground floor is dedicated to the living area. From the large main entrance, a design staircase leads to the upper floors, which can also be reached with a lift (suitable for people with disabilities).

On the left, there's the eat-in kitchen, the dining room from where you access the large portico overlooking the swimming pool, a double living room with a fireplace divided into two areas by a brick vault inherited from the original country house.

The bedroom area on the ground floor can also be accessed from an independent entrance from the outside, and it includes two bedrooms, both with an en-suite bathroom.

The first floor is divided into two areas, the largest one is connected internally, via the staircase and the lift, and externally via the independent entrance. It includes 5 bedrooms, all with an en-suite bathroom, and a large passageway/living room in the staircase-lift area.

The other area has an independent entrance and houses an apartment with a living room, a kitchenette, a bathroom, a bedroom and an additional room with a private bathroom.

The second floor includes a bedroom with an en-suite bathroom, a large passageway that can be used as a living room/study, a bathroom and a large room with access to a terrace.
